

CONSERVATION WALKS

This path in the Pannel Sewer Valley provides an opportunity to observe the wildlife being regenerated on several sites in the area. The surrounding pasture has been restored from former arable fields to provide wet grazing pasture to benefit wildfowl and waders. Using the footpath network it is possible to reach a bird hide overlooking a newly created scrape and reed beds.

This access has been provided under the Department for Environment, Food & Rural Affairs' farm conservation schemes, which help farmers and land managers protect and improve the countryside, its wildlife and history. It is permissive access and no new rights of way are being created. Existing rights of way are not affected. Please follow the Country Code and observe any other requirements shown above. Do not disturb wildlife, livestock or other visitors and in particular keep dogs under control. This is working farmland so please take care; people using this site do so at their own risk. Access ends in September 2014.
